

Duncan MacDougal's New Digs

There once was a man who was Scottish,
and he lived alone in a little _____.
a. bungalow b. hut c. cottage

He felt a need for change but did not know should he move to Ohio and buy a
_____.
a. bungalow b. hut c. cottage

His cottage was small but just somewhat.
He knew he didn't want a teeny tiny _____.
a. bungalow b. hut c. cottage

He thought he'd move to New York with his cat, and rent a one room, one window
_____.
a. palace b. adobe c. flat

But, then he could move to Dallas and live in that huge Texas-sized _____.
a. palace b. adobe c. flat

Yet, winters would be nice and cozy if he move to Arizona and lived in an
_____.
a. palace b. adobe c. flat

Then he knew he didn't care to move or roam because his cottage had the warmth of home.